Empathy Map:

A customer wants a simple and efficient way to register and track complaints online. They expect quick responses, transparent status updates, and timely resolution of issues. However, they often face delays, poor communication, and difficulty knowing the progress of their complaints. They regularly check for updates, contact support when necessary, and seek reliable solutions. These challenges cause frustration and dissatisfaction, while a centralized complaint registry system provides better transparency, faster resolution, improved communication, and a more satisfactory user experience.
